

Committee : International Labour Organisation (ILO)

Topic : Does technology help or hinder working conditions?

Author : Canada (Workers)

Honorable chairs and fellow delegates,

The delegation of Canada is honored and specially proud to be here today, and sincerely hopes that we will have some very fruitful and rich discussions.

The subject of technology in the work has never been as important as during this pandemic. Our country recognized the elements that prove the importance of technology in the work, the apparition of machines during the industrial revolution permitted to develop our country. We are aware that our country is highly developed in technology especially in our big cities. Knowing that we have to deal with the security in the sector of telecommunications, we ratified the laws of august 2019. We think that transparency is the key to assure security in technology. We take the differents problems like creative destruction, or inequality and discrimination in the workplace very seriously. We wanted to assure the rights of our workers.

Bearing in mind, the necessity of technology in the workplace and all the advantages it makes

Knowing, that we have to protect worker's right and assur the equality in rights,

1. proposes, an action plan to serve all the countryside an access to internet
2. encourages, all the country to make international laws to protect the workers' right and mainly the independent workers using technology
3. trusts, all the country have to be more transparency to the customers and workers, that can be reassuring and more secure.

We sincerely hope that you understand our ideas and projects. We have to take useful decision for our country. So we would like to encourage all the delegates of the human rights committee to show a deep interest in our commun issues and to be sincerely engaged to solve this matter
thanks you